Dear friend,

On June 30, 2009, we completed another successful fiscal year, and what an exciting year it was! We added new states – California, Ohio, and Texas – to our network and positively impacted the health of approximately 66,000 students and community members.

In the fall of 2008, HealthCorps participated in ServiceNation, a conference to encourage the level of service and volunteerism our Coordinators carry out and encourage. We presented free fitness lessons at the American Diabetes Association Expo in New York City and we engaged in service projects across the nation on Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

In February, I was honored to offer testimony about the HealthCorps program to the United States Senate Health Committee. The committee called back HealthCorps President Michelle Bouchard to explain further our program and its successes during a hearing on national service.

I was pleased to announce in June the results of an independent efficacy study conducted by the Affinity Health Plan. The study showed that HealthCorps students reduced their soda consumption, were more likely to be physically active, and had a greater knowledge of health than those students not enrolled in the HealthCorps program.

I am hopeful that my new nationally syndicated talk show, The Dr. Oz Show, will further raise the visibility and extend the reach of HealthCorps.

In health,

Dr. Mehmet Oz
Chairman
Who We Are

HealthCorps® is a proactive health movement responding to the child obesity and teen suicide crises through school-based health education & peer mentoring, community activism & outreach to underserved populations.

Our Mission
Establish a public/private movement to transform the health of all Americans

Our Vision
Become the most trusted brand for proactive health and wellness in America

“\text{I liked the sugar in soda demonstration because I never took the time to check how much sugar was in soda. I was in shock when I saw all that sugar.}”
- Daniel, John F. Kennedy High School, N.Y.

Coordinators help students learn to prepare and enjoy healthy foods.
SCHOOLS
Educate and Activate America’s Youth and Families to “Eat Smart and Exercise”

“...weight loss, great emphasis on exercise, and our students and teachers have seen just a difference in who they are and how they carry themselves.”
- Kathleen Weigel, Principal, Atlantic Community High School

Fun, interactive seminars focused on the value and power of students’ bodies and minds.
- Create Educated Consumers and Health Activists
- Encourage positive behavioral shifts that enhance self-esteem.
- 44 high schools in seven states (California, Florida, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas).
- Impact 500 HS students per school per year; +1000 parents & peers per school

Dr. Oz teaches a HealthCorps® class at KIPP Houston High School.
How We Deliver

Coordinators are the heart of the HealthCorps program.

Recent college graduates deferring medical school or graduate programs in health.
- Health peer-mentors model
- One Coordinator per high school
- Graduates of respected universities in the United States
- Backgrounds offer diverse cross section of demographics and talent
- Requisite school system background and fingerprinting checks
- 300 applications for 44 spots last year; 800 per 35 slots next year
- Future health leaders

“One of my goals and passions is to eliminate health and education disparities locally and globally. Working for HealthCorps has brought me closer to that end.”
- Adriane Tuttle, Coordinator

HealthCorps® Goes to Washington

On February 26, Dr. Mehmet Oz, cardiac surgeon and Founder and Chairman of HealthCorps, testified before the U.S. Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee (HELP) about the role of integrative medicine in health reform and his proactive national health movement that has already established its educational and peer mentoring program in forty-four schools across the country.

U.S. Senator Barbara A. Mikulski (D-Md.), a senior member of the Health, Education, Labor and Pensions (HELP) Committee and Chairwoman of its Subcommittee on Retirement and Aging, presided over a HELP hearing on March 10, 2009. The hearing featured testimony from experts in the national service field, including Michelle Bouchard, President, HealthCorps.

“You’ve got high school students who now think ‘my goodness! They taught me about how to eat and they’re giving me advice about physical activity; so now I’m not getting fat anymore.’ So it helps with the obesity epidemic.”
- Dr. Mehmet Oz

Dr. Oz, LL Cool J, Ben Vereen, Quincy Jones, Russell Simmons, Wyclef Jean Came out to Support HealthCorps’ Fight Against Child Obesity at The Green Garden Gala

HealthCorps® took its fight against child obesity to the Winter Garden at the World Financial Center on Thursday, April 30, where it held the Green Garden Gala. Dr. Mehmet Oz, HealthCorps Founder and Chairman, and his wife Lisa co-chaired the Gala, which honored Musical Genius Quincy Jones, Actor and Performer Ben Vereen, New York City Schools Chancellor Joel Klein and New York Philanthropist and CEO of the Red Apple Group John Catsimatidis for their contributions to the health and well being of American youth.

The celebrity-studded event attracted such guests as Russell Simmons, LL Cool J, Donna Karan, New York Governor David Paterson, Celebrity Chef Rocco DiSpirito, Miss Universe Dayana Mendoza, Dr. Michael Roizen of RealAge, Dr. Dean Ornish, Dr. Mark Hyman, former Knicks star John Starks, and Warner Music Group Executive VP Kevin Liles.

“Chain Reaction” HealthCorps Spinning Fundraiser in San Francisco, March 17-19, 2009

Hundreds of people took a spin to fight teen obesity during Chain Reaction at the Moscone Center in San Francisco on March 17th, 18th, and 19th. During the International Health, Racquetball, and Sportsclub Association annual conference and trade show, celebrity spinners led spinning classes of approximately an hour in duration on Star Trac spinning bikes. Celebrity spinners included Ronnie Lott and the Gold Rush, the Oakland Raiderettes, fitness trailblazer Kathy Smith, Broadway legend Stepp Stewart, KTVU and KICU personalities and management, the San Francisco Fire Department, Olympian Victor Plata, World’s Strongest Man Bill Kazmaier, San Francisco Ballet Principal Dancer Nicolas Blanc, San Francisco Mayor Gavin Newsom’s office staff, FC Gold Pride Assistant GM Brian Bettendorf, and Master Spinning Instructors from across the nation. The event so impressed sports club owners from around the country that many signed up to host their own Chain Reaction events in their clubs in the future.

“Whether it’s decreasing their soda intake, becoming more active or just enjoying the cooking classes, I see students taking a proactive role in their own health and know I am part of that change at a time when it’s most needed.”
- Rebecca Rinehart, Coordinator

“To invest in teenagers is going to give you the best possible and fastest return on your charitable dollars.”
- B.K. Boreyko, President & CEO, VeMMA

HealthCorps® like many other non-profits has been affected by the current recession. According to the publication Inside Philanthropy, non-profits across the nation are experiencing a similar situation due to the current recession. Losses are to be expected since donor contributions are down and government grants are decreasing. The expected time to recovery should take two years at the very least. HealthCorps is adjusting its fundraising strategies to navigate this recession and limit HealthCorps’ current exposure.

"I really liked talking to the doctors at the adolescent health table at the health fair. They were easy to talk to and they had a lot of good information. They should come back next school year."
